THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

SENATOR PLUMB REPORTS FAVORABLY ON NORMAN J. COLMAN'S NOMINATION.

Daley and Opposition in the Matter of Mr. Thompson's and Gen. Stevenson's Nomination.—Report of the Senate Sub-Committee on the Bureau of Engraving—Re-publican Senator Caucus—Washington News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 12.—In an executive session of the Senate this afternoon Senator Plum, from the Committee on Agriculture, reported favorably the nomination of Norman J. Colman of Missouri to be Secretary of Agriculture. Objection was made by a Republican Senator to consideration of the nomination this time, and a Democratic Senator then objected to a discussion of the nomination, under the rule it went over until the next executive session. It is understood that the nomination will be confirmed, however, when it again comes before the Senate.

The nominations of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Thompson to be Civil Service Commissioner in place of Ferguson, removed, and of First Assistant Postmaster-General to be Postmaster-General at the point of the District of Columbia, will be subject to the general rule adopted by the majority of the Senate respecting political nominations. The objection to Mr. Stevenson is said to lie in the fact that his name has been mentioned in the newspaper platform concerning territorial offices; that they shall be filled by residents. The appointment of Colman is not considered as going within the meaning of the word. If the Republicans consent to hold a hearing on the appointment of a Washington lawyer to the bench, Mr. Thompson is objected to on the score of extra-territorial partisanship in South Carolina elections.

The Bureau of Engraving.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 12.—Messrs. Hiseck and Harris, the sub-committee of the Senate Finance Committee, who have had under consideration for several months the question of supplanting the stamp tax on printing plants in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing by the re-introduction of hand machines to duplicate the work done by the advocates of the proposed change. The report is made up on this bill, which provides that the stamp tax on stamps and bonds shall be "done in the highest style of art." By their representation the sub-committee say that steam press work fulfills that requirement.

Republican senatorial Caucus.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 12.—A caucus of Republicans was held this morning at which the financial question was under discussion. A free interchange of opinion had, but nothing definite was determined. Mr. Evans is to call for the report of the Committee on Privileges and Elections upon the alleged outrages in Texas.

To-day's Bond Offerings.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 12.—To-day's bond offerings aggregated $52,000, as follows: Registered $500 at 100 1/2; $11,500 at 100%.

FIFTIETH CONGRESS.

The Senate.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 12.—Among the Senate bills introduced from committees and placed on the calendar was one to provide for the enforcement of the quarantine laws of the Bureau of Customs for the establishment of a National Board of Health.

The following House bills were taken from the calendar and passed:

To authorize the Court of Claims to hear, determine, and finally decide the claim of the "old settlers" of Western Cherokee Indians. To pay $5,000 to Charles Sweeny, of New York, and Samuel Phillips, of New York, for going to and rescuing shipwrecked seamen from an Indian island near Cape Horn; granting right of way to the Pacific Mail Line across Fort Lowell Military Reservation, in Arizona.

Then Senator, at 12:45, proceeded to executive session on motion of Mr. Flaub, who stated that he presented it would not occupy more than five minutes. At the same time the executive business was transacted and legislative business resumed.

At 1:30 P. M. the bill was so soon as the naval appropriation bill was disposed of he would ask the Senate to consider the proposed bill to amend the act on Privileges and Elections as to outrages committed in Washington County, Tex.

The House.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 12.—On motion of Mr. McCrory of Kentucky the Senate bill to enable the President to protect the interests of the United States in foreign countries was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs, and leave granted to the committee to report on it.

Mr. Townsend of Illinois introduced a bill appropriating $50,000 for a special display of the products of the United States at the Paris Exposition.

The House then resumed the consideration of the bill.

Mr. Farwell of Virginia defeated the motion to report the bill in committee. The bill, similar in its provisions to the law of almost every State in the Union. The Democrats of the South, however, voted for the bill, and the bill was immediately summoned and applied the usual rules. It was then referred to the Board of Directors.

A Bay Badly Burned.

A child was badly burned in a fire which occurred at 8:45 this morning at No. 3500 South Second street. The house is occupied by Charles Ehrard and family. A defective fuse was the cause of the fire, and damaged the building to the extent of $200 and the furniture to $100.

Both children were severely injured, but both fully insured.

Mr. Ehrard's only son was in bed in the room when the fire started. He was partially awakened by the smoke and the flames extinguished. Dr. Hinchman was immediately summoned and applied the usual rules. He pronounced the boy's injuries dangerous.

AMONG THE BROKERS.

A Bearish Market—Stocks Sold and Prices Obtained To-day.

The mining market was decidedly on the decline this morning, the stocks that had their own being little dealt in, while those which sold freely were on the down-grade.

West Granite was having deal in and fell almost without a check from the opening until the close of trading. The call opened at 97 1/2, but a sale of 1,000 shares took place at 96 1/2. At this price transfers were large, over 2,500 shares changing hands, and the market was insufficient to check the decline, and 1,100 shares were sold at 95 1/2. At 95 1/2 the brokers aggregated 1,000 shares to 95. A momentary recovery had been experienced, and after 1,000 shares were freely made at that price, and after 1,800 shares had changed hands the price fell to 94. Offers were large, but the market was at a lower point. A carload of such ore as the West Granite is said to have would be worth $100 per ton, and the market closed with transfers aggregating 1,000 shares at 94, the stock being 92.

Frisco was having deal in and fell to 94, the price aggregated 1,000 shares. A momentary recovery had been experienced, and the stock to 94 1/2. The miners were freely made at that price, and after 1,800 shares had changed hands the price fell to 93. Offers were large, but the market was at a lower point. A carload of such ore as the Frisco is said to have would be worth $100 per ton, and the market closed with transfers of 1,000 shares at 93, the stock being 92.

The cause of this sharp decline was said to be the fact that the miners managers to ship but a single carload of ore from the present works, and then to stop. The miners were freely made at that price, and after 1,800 shares had changed hands the price fell to 92. Offers were large, but the market was at a lower point. A carload of such ore as the Frisco is said to have would be worth $100 per ton, and the market closed with transfers of 1,000 shares at 92, the stock being 91.

The greatest decline of the day was that of the Queen of the West suffered. This stock has gradually been creeping up, but little being upon the market, and to-day the call opened at 75 1/2. A sale of 100 shares made at this price, and the regular standard stocks occurred, 300 were paid for 500 shares, and the price aggregated 1,000 shares to 75. The miners were freely made at that price, and more were being offered. At 74 over 1,500 shares changed hands, and the market closed with transfers of 1,000 shares, and finally reaching 70. Here a strong buying interest made itself manifest, and the market closed with transfers of 1,000 shares at 70 1/2. No news has been received of the Frisco office to-day; 1,000 shares changed hands at 70, selling at 68.

The market closed with transfers of 1,000 shares at 68, selling at 67 1/2.

The indications for twenty-four hours, commencing at 3 p.m. to-day, for Missouri are: Fair weather; warmer; westerly winds.

THERE is apparently only one Republican in the country who is not worrying himself over the Cabinet appointments; his name is HARISON.

The forthcoming municipal election in St. Louis will emphasize the desire of the citizens to separate municipal government from politics as far as possible.

The fifth week of the Post-Dispatch Parnell Defense Fund should score a better record for the noble work than any preceding week. This is a critical time for Mr. PARSELL when every particle of aid is worth double its usual value to him.

JAY GOULD is a benevolent man and no doubt intends to give St. Louis a new Union Depot some of these days. He need not expect to lay a surface track between his Union Depot and his Iron Mountain road. It is opposed by the solid south of the city.

In selecting St. Louis as the best place to hold the proposed Interstate Legislative Conference on the beef and pork question, Gov. HUMPHREY of Kansas has shown that his head is level and that his judgment as to the commercial center of the West is accurate. The conference will open auspiciously.

JACK MCALIFFE and BILLY MYER will fight for the light-weight championship within the next twenty-four hours. Unless the present arrangements are changed the fight will take place to-night. If it does the Post-DISPATCH will have bulletins posted in time for theater-goers to learn the news before returning to their homes.

The revelations of the Post-DISPATCH with regard to gambling dens in this city have awokened citizens to a knowledge of the situation, and what is more important have aroused the police authorities to a realization of their duties. The closing of several vicious gambling dens, the existence of which has been disclosed by the Post-DISPATCH, is only the beginning of a thorough enforcement of the gambling law.

The evidence in the Small-Elliott contested election case fairly bristles with proofs of the intimidation of colored Democrats by the Republicans in South Carolina. It is very probable that any new Congress may pass to make election freer in the South will only make that section more Democratic. Such has been the effect of all former Republican efforts to lay the hand of the United States Government on Southern elections.

The people of St. Louis are paying dearly through the clouds of dust which envelop the city for the advantage of cheapness gained in the street-sweeping meritocracy by all the naval boards and contracts. That the result is so excellent, but was gained after terrible cost of inconvenience and discomfort, only emphasizes the folly of delay. A prompt and business-like handling of the matter would have avoided these unpleasant and commercially disastrous consequences. The value of time as well as of good bargaining has been made prominent in this instance.

LABOR LEGISLATION.

The present State Legislature will have before it various measures presented by the St. Louis delegation aiming to provide better protection for the life and health of employees in large industrial establishments and to guard as far as possible against the exposure of child labor to immoral or unhealthy conditions.

Abundant reasons for such legislation have been found in all great industrial centers, and models of statutes providing for the inspection and regulation of mines, mills and factories are not wanting. The police power of the State should unquestionably be exerted to compel employers to take proper care of the lives and health of employees. Stern necessity compels labor to brave the risks incidental to the most dangerous kinds of business, and it is the duty of the State to see that the employer shall provide against these risks every practical safeguard dictated by humanity.

Where the employees are minors below the age of discretion, forced by necessity or constrained by heartless or ignorant parents to labor under conditions poisonous to their health or morals and tending to make their wrecked lives a charge upon the public, the State has a double reason for exercising a benevolent and careful guardianship over such unfortunate. The fact that many employers do their whole duty conscientiously in such cases only makes more urgent the duty of the State to see that all do likewise.

But there is one point that should be carefully guarded in all such legislation. There should be no unnecessary or avoidable restriction of the right of young or old to earn an honest living. So long as "the idle mind is the devil's workshop" every restriction of that natural right will be mischievous and every infringement of it may tend to drive many from honest labor to vice and crime. There are avocations so necessarily dangerous to children, morally or physically, that the employment of children therein should be effectively prevented by law. But there are others in which the danger may be removed by proper regulation. The law should stop at necessary precaution, and impose no avoidable restriction upon the freedom of labor. The idea that labor can be benefited by every restriction that can be imposed on it to diminish the number permitted by law to earn wages, is a hallucination which should not disfigure any state of Missouri.

The report of Adjutant-General DRUM on the military resources of the United States is interesting in view of recent war scares. The organized militia numbers 106,500 officers and men and the available arms-bearing population reaches in round figures 8,000,000. This enormous possible army is sufficient to make the strongest military nation or combination of nations pause before venturing to overrun Uncle Sam's domain. The report, however, is especially instructive to Congress and State legislative bodies in that it shows an increase of the organized militia in proportion to the encouragement and aid furnished for this purpose. With adequate support this country can have the finest military reserve force, trained and equipped for service, in the world. It should be noticed that among the States Missouri stands towards the bottom of the list in point of organized State militia. The Missouri militia has received little encouragement from the State Legislature.

GEN. DRAPEK after trying one round with AMES for the Republican nomination for Governor of Massachusetts, refused to enter the contest again, even when it is announced that Gov. AMES will not be in it. "I do not care," says Gen. DRAPEK, "to enter into the style of campaign which seems to be requisite of late for a candidate supposed to have money." Upon this text the Boston Journal, a Republican paper, preaches a timely sermon upon the methods that have come into vogue since Republican nominations began to seek millionaires. It says the cost of securing the nomination for Governor in Massachusetts has been in recent years about $20,000, to say nothing of expenses incidental to the election. The fact is that party usages are fast establishing a property qualification not required by law, and the tendency of which is at once obvious and deplorable. If the preference for millionaires as candidates does not necessarily imply the willingness of the party to let its nominations sold to the highest bidder, it certainly does imply a willingness to have money used freely in carrying the election.

CONGRESSMAN THOMAS, an Illinois Republican, has rendered the navy a more brilliant and effective service under a Democratic administration than all the Republican Secretaries who have presided over the Navy Department in the last thirty years. The worst failure of them all, who is now Senator BILL CHANDLER, is therefore doing his best to get the Senate to veto special appropriations for the construction of war-ships on the Thomas plan and specifications. As these plans have been approved as extraordinarily experts, they find no favor in CHANDLER's sight. His idea of naval administration is millions for repairs, for rings and for unsightly hulls, but not a cent for a ship that can float or fight.

Another Buzzard.

From the Chicago Herald.

The latest is an orator of the bloody shirt in the Senate of Indiana. In answer to the request of a hearer who doubted his own words, the speaker carefully repeated the following words: "I have more respect for Longstreet and Mosby than for any soldier who fought for me." And, after the war was over, he came home and voted the Democratic ticket. I am in favor of placing Democratic Union soldiers in a cage, and putting the cage in a menagerie." This is the typical shrieker of the Republican party. Ask him if he upholds a tax of 90 cents on a dollar's worth of woolen ready-made clothing, and he will cry that he hates Hancock; admires Quantrell and execrates Rosser.

Sacred Country for Party.

The other day Indianapolis furnished two recruits for the army of American defectors and swindlers in Canada. Yesterday's dispatches stated that two more persons had taken refuge from American justice under the flag of the Dominion. One of these was the son of Tom Tamm, who is a notorious swindler. The other is a member of the Merchants' Exchange. Each is secure from arrest, and has nothing to trouble him but his conscience or his indigence. Yet in the face of these constant occurrences the Senate shelves the extradition treaty under which we could have recaptured some of our stray sheep or goats. It is almost inexplicable that it should have acted thus.

Private Business Corporations.

From the Philadelphia Record.

These artful persons, without soul or marrow, engaged in private business, are the sworn enemies of workingmen. They do not hold the relations with workingmen which should exist between the employer and the employed. The owners of the shares and the employers of the dividends in corporation shop, factory or office are not bound by the slightest of human sympathy. This class of corporations are the first to reduce and the last to raise the rate of wages. There is no doubt that their intrusion upon a field of employment that belongs properly to individual enterprise and capital has contributed more than all other causes to the depression of wages and the systematic degradation of labor.

Give the Farmer a Chance.

From the Toronto Mail.

The vast proportion of the consuming public cannot combine. For example, the farmer, who is the prime victim of combines, cannot organize to enhance the price of his products. Having to sell in the open market, he should be protected in his liberty to buy from merchants who are free in the regulation of their prices from competitive influences. The agricultural workers are the most numerous and the producer of the country. His power to demand should therefore not be handicapped by imposts laid upon him by conspiracies of any kind.

DAVE RUGAN'S REVOLVER

IT IS A MENACE TO THE LIVES OF ST. LOUIS CITIZENS.

A "Model" Deputy Constable—He Carries a "Gun," a "Billy," and a Good Load of Whisky, and After Insulting John Nieman in a Vill Way Wants to Know What He Can Do 'bout It.

POLOMEN who were present this morning smiled when the case of John Hogan, better known as "Dave Rugan," and John Nieman, called by his associates "Charley Ross," was called in the Second District Court but the case was continued until the 19th inst. Both men were charged with disturbing the peace. But the police knew Rugan well, and they were surprised to see him there under the guise of a Deputy Constable. The row occurred last night in front of Kane's saloon on the northwest corner of Sixth and Christy avenue. The occurrence may be reckoned somewhat fortunate for the public, inasmuch as it has brought to the notice, not generally known, that the constable, though Rugan, is now serving in the capacity of a deputy constable. He had a commission under Constable Charley Fox, who is attached to Judge James McFarley's court.

Rugan's record is such that there could never have been any doubt about his fitness for such a position, but his conduct last night alone would establish this fact undoubtedly. He will have a chance to subcommittee as the vice. Every voter will be consulted, and every Democratic resident is invited to speak at the next election day. The same will be done to give shape for the April show.

INSANELY JEALOUS.

Mary Anderson's Scenic Artist Beasts His Wife in a Chicago Hotel.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 11.—Near midnight last night, in a Commercial Hotel, a commotion was created by the piercing screams of a woman.

The first person to arrive on the scene found a man beating a woman. They proved to be Wm. F. Doran, scenic artist for Mary Anderson, and his wife, known on the stage as Miss Clara Russell, also of the same company, and who plays the part of second lead.

Mr. G. Dahl, the proprietor of the hotel, ejected Doran from the hotel, and Mrs. Anderson, with her two sons, Between sons she managed to say that she was an English girl, and had first come to this country with her mother, Mrs. Anderson, in 1878. Doran is now 25 years old. Since Doran is from New York, they had grown to like each other. She returned to England again with the organization of Miss Anderson's present company. Their old attachment renewed, and in Boston, they were once more engaged. He recollects any such knowledge as likely to induce a confidence that is misleading and which may prove disastrous in the ring. He considers it best to measure his adversary at the time of the encounter and to depend entirely on his own observation, rather than on the report of battles or the tips of those who profess to know his opponent's tactical secrets.

Billy on former occasions used to make a point to go to church right up to the time of the fight, and when he got home he would give it up, because he says everybody stares at him so that it becomes embarrassing, and he feels that people might think he wanted to exhibit himself if he kept going. He does not profess any decided religious convictions, but he says he likes to hear the singing at church and always appreciates a good discourse. He was brought up in the Methodist doctrine, his parents both being members of that denomination, and was until recent years a regular attendant at the school services.

During the afternoon the Chicago Sunday papers arrived and were eagerly scanned by Billy and his friends for news about the fight. An indignant exclamation from Billy arrested the attention of many. "I am going to write," he said. "These papers have been representing us as being bold and confident of victory. I wish you would contradict this in your paper and let me have a chance to speak." Mr. McAluliffe, however, I have not expressed myself as being confident of winning this fight. All that I have said is that I will do my best."

The fact is that Billy is the one time surprising the expectations of overzealous friends. To one such to-day who remarked that next Sunday he will wish you never had seen me," he replied dryly: "Perhaps next Sunday you will wish you never had seen me."

PITTSBURG, Pa., February 12.—Wm. St. Clair, proprietor of a genteel furnishing store at Wilkinsburg, a suburb of this city, was fatally shot by burglar at 2:30 o'clock this morning. Mr. St. Clair lived with his family at the time of the shooting, and was attended by his wife and two sons.

As he opened the door leading to the store it was outlined against the light outside the forms of two men.

Before he could raise the pistol to fire, the fire, taking them out to the street. As he reached the pavement he was shot twice.

The noise alarmed the neighborhood but, before assistance came, he was carried unconscious into the house and a physician summoned who pronounced him dead. The police were notified and the burglar tracked in the snow for eight or ten miles, when all of them were arrested and were two by two taken to the former house-breakers.

THE DES MOINES RIVER LANDS.

Very Little Interest Manifested in the Act Passed by Congress.

FORT DODGE, Io., February 12.—The receipt of the news of the passage of the Des Moines bill has not manifested much interest here. Small, the heavy owner of lands, does not whether it is of no consequence and care not whether it is signed by the President or not, as previous decisions of the United States Supreme Court have confirmed the title. The same bill, all set aside, is on Myer's land.

ILLIY MYER does not work Sunday, says a dispatch to the Chicago Tribune of yesterday. A visit to his quarters this afternoon found him reclining in bed reading "Mr. Barnes of New York." He spent the last evening after training hours using some short story or the like paper nearly all of which talk of the popular sports paper he has no taste, and, apparently enough, has a strong aversion to reading newspaper accounts of prize-fights, so much so that when he sees a paper the headlines of a fight he says he invariably skips it. When asked if such information would be of value to him in showing the tactics of other fighters, he replied that he would much rather never have seen the man whom he is to meet up his hands of battle. "After I come home," he said, "I will record what I have learned in the American register. The challenge was not accepted, though it was one of the best of the American importations."

PATTON'S STRING.

It Will Be Started at the Fair Grounds After Sunday.

Mr. J. D. Patton, the well-known horseman, was in the city yesterday for the purpose of securing a stable room for his string of thirteen thoroughbreds. He will bring them down Sunday from the Patton farm, and they will be quartered at the Fair Grounds until the spring meeting begins. The lot includes: Gold Flea, 6 years; Kitty H., 5 years; Duke of Kent, 4 years; Tees Bag, 4 years; Nettie Kent, 5 years; Duke of Kent, 5 years; Lucy F., 5 years; Duke of Kent, 5 years; Carter B., by Duke of Kent, 5 years; Duke of Kent, dam Netta Wirt; Winnie, by Duke of Kent, dam Netta Martin; West Anna, by Duke of Kent, out of Netta Martin; and Lillie, by Duke of Kent, out of Midlothian, dam Lillie. Mr. Patton had very bad luck with his horses last year, all of which were spooked, and carried him away. He was a splendid performer the year previous, won every race in the season at Nashville and had to be retired. He has been spooked, however, and will again stand training. All of his horses in the string are of the good blood of Mr. Patton's, and will be more successful than he was last year. Nearly all his horses are engraved with his name, and he has put on the spring harness.
